MICHIGAN PASSBOOK STAMPS AND AN OHIO PERMIT

by Sylvia Tompkins

The advent of the passbook system of licensing sportspeople has spawned a great variety of adhesive stamps and tags for the collections of those interested in Michigan material. Pictured here are all the various items exception the 1981 non-resident turkey stamp. All are printed on white paper.

Keep Seal Dry. Seal must be applied immediately to one leg upon killing turkey. Apply seal only as shown: sticky side to sticky side and press firmly. Unlawful to possess without seal properly attached.

In addition Michigan uses a series of tags to be attached to the animal signifying it was legally killed. All are on white light cardboard with a redish-brown and silver metal reinforcement. All are printed in black except the Non-Resident Bear which is in a very dark green. The reverse side of most ofthe tags has an instruction list for use of the tag.

ALASKA SALMON STAMPS

An effort to purchase the 1983 Alaska King Salmon stamp brought a reply that no such stamp will be issued since the salmon stamp law has been repealed. The 1982 stamp is the last of the series.

Cecilia A. Wagoner, Accounting Supervisor for the Department of Revenue reports there here are plenty of the 1980, 1981 and 1982 emissions still available. For further information wright the State of Alaska Fish & Game Licensing Section, 1111 West 8th Street, Room $108, Juneau, Alaska, 99801-0404.

NEBRASKA STAMPS ON DISPLAY

News that Amos Henely had taken a Gold for his display of Nebraska Revenues at the Omaha in the fall of 1982 prompted the editor to ask for some information on creating displays which might help SRS members interested in submitting exhibits of their collections to stamp shows.

Not only did Mr. Henely send in the material below but he had a friend of his photograph a considerable portion of the material to give an idea of how he worked up his presentation. The photos included with this article are only a portion of the exhibit as it was finally submitted.

Now to Mr. Henely's letter. . .

As for a write up I don't think I could contribute any gems but in my case I had thought an exhibit was for a gifted person and I don't consider myself in that class. However after assembling this exhibit I know that really there are only three rules:

1. Have the stamps to present a complete picture.

2. Have a chronological order and avoid duplication, letting the stamps tell the story.

3. Fancy lettering or pages are not necessary. One of the exhibits was on Federal Duck stamps on special design pages handlettered-complete mint except for two stamps and complete used. It took no award and the owner told me he has spent a "pretty penny for the sheets and the fancy lettering."

At LINPEX '77 I entered two frames covering Nebraska Liquor stamps only and failed to take an award. At that time Ken Pruess told me "the judges like to see lots of stamps and an indication that the person knew his subject." My display was not complete and Ken indicated his displeasure as he knew I had the stamps to do a better job. Lesson No. 1.

My next sally into a show was the Council Bluffs '80 where I had two frames of Bottle and Strip stamps. I felt that this was a good display but it failed to take an award. I was later told by an official of the club that he saw the judges walk by my frames with the remark "Oh these are Revenues". Sort of a stacked deck and that soured me on exhibits. In the first case I failed through my own lack of a complete exhibit and in the second case because the judges were blind to the idea of Revenues, expecially NON-LISTED.

In the Omaha show I was asked to make up a non-Scott exhibit to round out the show. So I resubmitted the one I had shown in Council Bluffs and this time won a Bronze.

At a stamp meeting the General Chairman asked me to submit some State Tax material as he knew that was my main hobby. (I believe all members of the Omaha-Council Bluffs club and the Bellevue Club know my hobby as I have made sales pitches "if it looks like a stamp and isn't listed--I want it.")

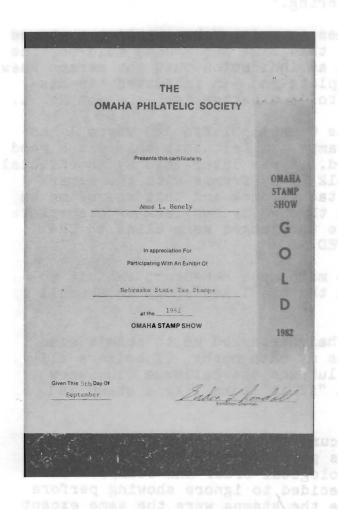

So I entered the show--not to secure an award--but to show that State Tax stamps are as interesting as postage stamps. I had the Nebraska Catalog by Pruess for the chronological order and stamps. In fact, I have several not listed. I decided to ignore showing perforation varieties and in the cases where the stamps were the same except for the names of Chairman, to consolidate these years. I laid out the stamps for each section--Liquor, Wines, Beer--and tried to follow a story type presentation that would keep the interest of the viewer. Once that was done I typed the first sheet and found that the centering and positioning of the stamps was important to keep the interest. I wound up with 30 pages (6 frames) and felt that I had a good and complete story.

From that point on it was a matter of typing. If I had had any intelligence at all, I would have taken my rough sheets to a typist. Instead I did the typing myself and found "a typist I am not". I would get to the bottom of a sheet and then make an error. So the whole sheet had to be done over. Really the hardest part was the typing.

I submitted two exhibits that I had worked on and received a Gold and a Bronze award.

(Editor's Note: Any member submitting exhibits for shows are invited to let me know at the address in the masthead. These presentations are an excellent way to inform the stamp-collecting public that there are more than postal service interests. Also, anyone wishing to send photos of sections of their exhibit and a write up on their experiences will find a warm welcome in these pages.)

These stamps may be listed under various categories as: Revenue - Document - Importing - Licanae, etc. They are issued for a settinut are and not as a means to collect money from stamp collectors.

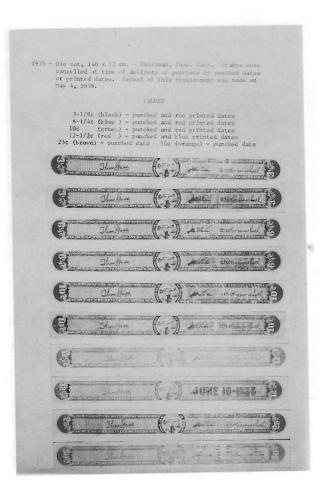

Many states decline to sell their atamps to collectors, and information in those cases can only be secured from fellow collectors. Other states will sell remainders at the end of the tax year, and some states change their policy from year to year.

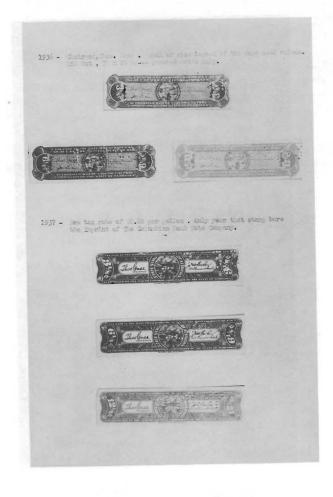

The problem of "Mint - Never Hinged" - "New Issue Service" has no place in State Tax Collecting. There is no profit incentive as is present in postage stamp collecting on spaculative issues.

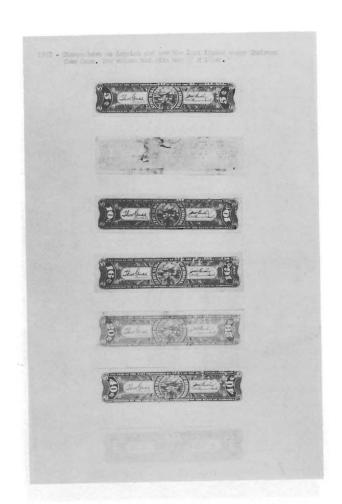

There is a challenge to form a collection and often a rare or unique variety may be found. This may have little monetary value, but will give great personal satisfaction.

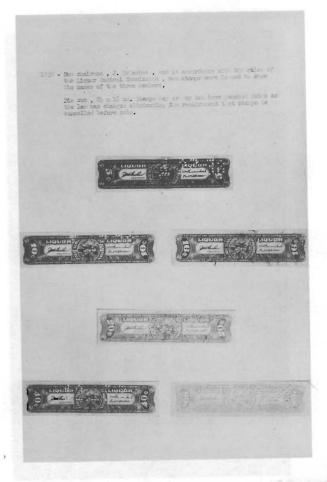

NEERASKA LIQUOR STAMPS

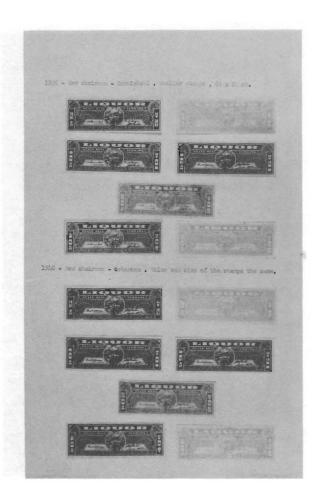

The 1935 Legislature created a Liquor Control Commission of three members, appointed by the Governor, to administer collection of taxes on alcoholic bewerages. Tax per gallon on May 24, 1935 was 96,50. Size of Irast stamps were to be mutilated at time of sale of the container. Internal Revenue Service frowned on this practice of a taxes on their stamp and succeeding issues were in smaller size.

NEW WASHINGTON DISCOVERIES

by M. E. Matesen

Its almost been ten years since the Washington State and Cities Revenue catalog was published and since then, thanks to the attentive interests of fellow SRS members some major new additions can be made to the documentary stamp section. The first, and most striking, are proveded by Bob Olds. In correspondence with Mr. Olds he stated "I recently acquired some Washington documentaries and amongst the group were several that were not listed in your catalog-or I'm using slightly different criteria for identification than you." In subsequent exchanges I was delighted to find that Mr. Olds had in fact uncovered several heretofor unlisted varieties of the perf. 12 group. It is somewhat with tongue in cheek that I use the term "group" since in the catalog the lone perf. 12 stamp has stuck out like a sentinel, being the only one that had ever been reported. Now with these new additions it seems probable that an entire series was issued with this perforation.

In addition to the listed 50¢(D19) we can now add the following values: $1.00 blue, $10.00 orange and $50.00 black on yellow surface paper. Cancels used on these stamps reflect that they were in use for a considerable period of time ranging from early 1953 to late 1966. Although the $2.00 and $5.00 in the low range of denominations have yet to be confirmed it seems logical that they also exist, yet to be uncovered.

Until recently the two top values in the documentary series(i.e. $100 and $500) were thought to be almost "unobtainable", in that this author know of only two--both being the $100 denomination of the 1935 perf. 12 1/2 series. Well, it didn't take long to validate the assumption that "probably others existed in the series" since a local revenue collector, Stan Schur, has come up with a rather spectacular $100 perf. 12 which fits nicely into the grouping reported by Mr. Olds.

Pending embarking on a catalog revision the following is a summary of these new additions. For purposes of cross-identification, the numbers listed in parenthesis are those reflected in the 1973 catalog as well as the 1976 supplement; new additions are marked **. A revised numbering system will be reflected in a forthcoming supplement.

The Oregon Liquor Decals

by John B. Norton

I recently send Geneive Cook, the Oregon Liquor Control Commission Information Officer, a list of 17 questions and I would like to share the basis of her answers with the membership.

The arrangement of the 1966 decals were 100 per sheet in 10 rows of 10 decals each. There were no special markings on the sheet selvage. The sheets were printed at $1.00 per thousand by at least one company, the Decalcomania Co., address unknown.

The decals were placed by the distilleries upon the shoulder of the bottle above the front label with the exception of miniatures and cordials. They appeared on the bottles in all outlets—state stores, agencies and liquor—by—the—drink licensed establishments; the latter beginning under a 1953 law.

When the decals were discontinued in 1966 no new type of visible tax payment was used. The taxes were automatically taken care of by the distillery bookeepers.

The above pertains to the 1966 decals specifically as Ms. Cook has no information on the prior two issues. She does not know why serial numbers were used on the long 1934 decal but not on the two that followed nor does she know the specific issuing dates of any of the three issues.

Any cider is taxed if it contained 1/2 of 1% alcohol content under ORS 473.030(2), the law stating, in part, ". . . a tax is hereby imposed. . . at the rate of 65 cents per gallon on all such beverages."

Under ORS 471.440 Oregonians are permitted to make beer and wine in their homes as long as it is for their own consumption. The above law, in conjunction with ORS 471.205, states that ". . . the Liquor Control Act does not apply to the making and keeping of naturally fermented wines and fruit juices or beer in the home, for home consucption and not for sale."

The Commission's bottling plant was closed in 1952 as being unprofitable due mainly to lack of consumer acceptance following World War II. It seems it could never surmount the bad name it had acquired with its below par whiskey during the war years.

I had high hopes that the minutes of the Monthly OLCC board meetings would add the needed information on the decals in regard to their manufacture and use. Ms. Cook though has repeatedly said: "I doubt if there is any information regarding decals in the minutes." She did observe that the previous minutes are in the State Archives in Salem if someone wished to check out this lead.

Ms. Cook's information "is based on the memories of the few people who were here and involved during the period the decals were in use, and who are still with the OLCC." She stated in our January, 1981 interview that she knew of no place, file or notes where information might appear and that when those involved either retired or dies the information would go with them.

This article, along with my previous two, are all based upon the information this fine lady has taken the time to pass on to me. I just wish I had more time to talk further with the people like Geneive Cook and her co-workers, in order to gather the small tidbits of information before it disappears into the realm of the unknown.

AN EDITORIAL:

A MATTER OF PERSPECTIVE

Last issue's publication of "State Duck Stamp Corrections" by Barry L. Porter brought an outraged response from one of the individuals listed at the beginning of the article.

After reading his letter, talking with him on the telephone and rereading the article several times it is apparent to me the difficulty is one of perspective.

Providing perspective is an editorial responsibility and for not rising properly to write an Editor's Note for this piece the Editor pleads note contrendre. Belatedly follows a somewhat elongated version of what should have appeared at the beginning of the article in question.

First, the five works mentioned are excellent source material. They are basically well-researched, basically accurate and are work basic for reference in studying this fascinating field. The authors should be applauded for their efforts and encouraged to continue their pursuit of data in this area. Indeed, if you added up the number of words in these articles and counted the number in the last NEWSLETTER used to enhance and correct there is clearly a huge ratio of accurate material.

Secondly, the NEWSLETTER has never hesitated to "call'em the way we see'em". If any of these works had been useless or horribly inaccurate it surely would have been said earlier; BUT no one has because the material is worthy of consideration by every Duck stamper. Nowhere is anyone's reputation questioned; these gentlemen are among the leaders in this field. Nowhere does anyone suggest the publications where these items appeared are culpable for printing an ocassional mistake. Imagine the world without Linn's or Sporting Classics. For those just getting into the State Duck Stamp area the five articles listed are part of the basic reference works needed to seriously study your collections.

Third, a correction article should be taken for exactly what it is—an effort to insure that present collectors have the best possible know-ledge in understanding their holdings and as an effort to insure that future publications will take into account the most recent research and data available.

Fourth, the nature of error is manifold. They arise from agency personnel providing misleading or inaccurate facts, from honest misinterpretation of questions, from getting answers from public information officers who neither work with the programs daily or are too busy with politically sensitive matters to give much effort to nuts-and-bolts queries about how intangibles taxes are assessed or if a habitat stamp is required to hunt snipe, or even from not being able to read one's own notes. The Editor has been a victum of every one of the above and knows of other researchers who have fallen prey to the problems inherent in research. At this moment the assessment of auto excise taxes in Allen County, Indiana is being questioned since newspaper reporters have gotten different answers from the three different license branches in the county from workers each using the same state-supplied assessment listings. Authors are even completely innocent parties. Elsewhere in this issue is a correction made in Mr. Porter's article caused by the Editor's failure to catch a typing error, thus causing the author to apper to be presenting erroneous information.

And a final note. The articles, publications and authors mentioned in the last issue should be compliment for their efforts in making the State Duck Stamp field more understandable for us all. Undoubtedly all those mentioned will continue to do research in the field and their contributions past and future can only accelerate the interest in Duck stamps.

It is hoped this editorial will clarify the intent in publishing the article and provide the perspective needed to properly place the work in the panorama of state and local revenue stamps.

WHATDOYOUCALLIT??

One of the great things about collecting state revenue stamps is that there is always ample opportunity to run across freak printings, miscuts, imperfs, the occasional tete-beche pair and then this, in the category of "what-do-you-call-it?" Illustrated is a multiple of the 1928 Virginia feed stamps in which all copies seemed to have been printed with a partially or inadequately inked plate except for the single in the lower left hand corner which is of pristine clarity for the print. Any other suggestions on how this might have happened?

A REVIEW:

MASSACHUSETTS WATERFOWL STAMPS AND PRINTS

Reviewed by Peter Pierce

In 1981 C.G. Rice of Boston, Massachusetts put together a fine threering binder type book featuring an extensive history of the Massachusetts Waterfowl stamp and print program and tying in the Federal and other States' stamp and print programs.

This is followed by a four-page folio per year for each waterfowl stamp. These are printed on heavy card-type stock; punched for three-ring binder with reenforced tabs. The pages are 8 1/2 x 11 in size featuring the winning print, stamp(the actual stamp could be mounted here to make this into an alubm), the artist and giving details of the contest.

The Massachusetts stamp and print series are unique in that they represent the only series--state or Federal-- that require decoys as the annual stamp designs. Other distinctions that set Massachusetts apart from other states include the following:

a)Stamp designs must be of working decoys--ducks, geese or shorebirds-and the decoys must have been made by known or unknown deceased Massachusetts

b)it represents the only case(Federal or state) where a pre-existing painting was used for a Duck Stamp design.

To the best of my knowledge, this is the only instance where a state has appointed a museum as its official custodian and repository for Duck Stamp material. The book sells for $20.00, plus $2.50 shipping and handling from the Peabody Museum in Salem, Massachusetts. The museum also stocks all expired Massachusetts Duck Stamps.

Although a lot of money, I personally think this is a good addition to any Duck Stamp library.

Ed. Note: Mr. Pierce enclosed an advertising borchure with the above review indicating that the entire set of nine prior Massachusetts Duck stamps can be purchased for $20.00. Stamps for a particular year may also be purchased.

A CORRECTION

Barry Porter notes that the words "The 1979 and 1982 issues show shorebirds and not waterfowl" should have been listed in section i) Massachusetts and not in Maryland.

He also notes two typographical errors: 1) In section c) South Dakota begain issuing non-pictorial Non-Resident stamps in 1970(not 1975) and 2) The last sentence lists the price as being $4 from 1958 to 1958 which should read from 1953 to 1958.

WHERE AND HOW TO APPLY WINDSHIELD STICKER LICENSE:

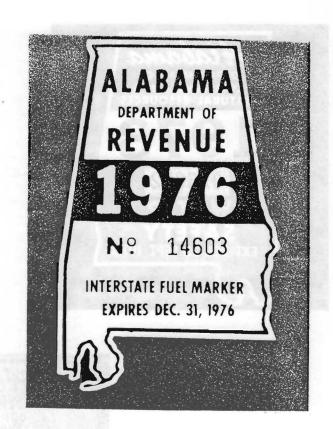

This sticker must be applied in a horizontal position on the inside of the lower right hand corner of the windshield. The large numbers go against the glass so that they can be seen from the outside. It shall be illegal to apply this stamp to the windshield of any vehicle other than the vehicle for which issued.

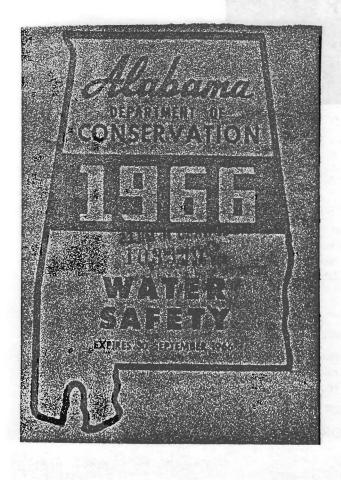

- 1. Wash windshield (inside) leaving it wet.
- 2. Dip license in water and place in position.
- 3. With a straight edge piece of cardboard squeegee the license down tight against the glass. Stroke from center to each end and be sure all air and water bubbles are removed. Wipe Dry.

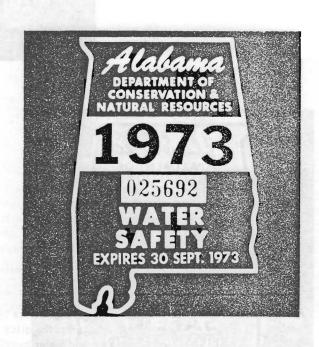

DO NOT APPLY TO FROSTED OR STEAMED UP GLASS.
