COMPREHENSIVE INDEX TO STATE REVENUE LITERATURE? - A PLEA FOR HELP

It will surprise many of our newer members, we are sure, to discover there is a vast amount of literature on State revenue stamps. Many of the published studies were done many years ago and are virtually unknown to present collectors of these stamps. Even the journals in which these studies were published have, in many cases, gone by the wayside. How many of you have seen one of the philatelic (and literary!) gems from the pen of E. L. Vanderhoof? What about Applegate, Cabot, Heydon, Bartlett to mention some other oldtimers? Or articles by Dr. Scully or Chas. Hermann who are still active in SRS?

Your editor is in the process of compiling a card index to all State revenue literature and invites your assistance. At such time as this index reaches a reasonable degree of completion (hopefully within a year), it will be published and distributed to all SRS members. But I must have help.

How can you participate? Simply by sending me a complete bibliographic reference to any and all literature with which you are familiar. Do not send the literature itself unless requested. Citations should include the author(s), date of publication, place of publication, and page numbers. Even clues will be helpful in the event you can not give a full citation.

What should be included? Anything pertaining to State revenues. Some screening and editing may be necessary but this can come only after we have something to edit. The index should include catalogs (including dealer's price lists such as those of Applegate); catalogs of auctions having a good representation of state revenues (such as the Cabot auction); all publications or articles which have appeared in the philatelic press, whether in general circulation papers or specialist journals; all privately printed or mimeographed articles (even typewritten manuscripts if they were circulated to any extent or copies have been deposited in libraries); books which pertain to stamp taxes; even articles in trade journals where appropriate.

Will you start the ball rolling by submitting any information you have?

SUBJECT INDEX TO STATE REVENUE NEWSLETTER
Whole Numbers 1-72 (1957-1967)

Compiled by O. R. Bloom and K. P. Pruess

By necessity, this is primarily a subject index. The vast majority of entries refer to listings of one, or only a few, stamps. Most notes published in the Newsletter were written by the various editors, based on information submitted by members, and show no author. Often it is impossible to associate a note with the person who contributed it and we have not attempted to do so in any case. Those few articles showing an author in the title are listed in a separate short section.

It is always difficult to decide what to include or exclude. This index represents a combination of two independently prepared compilations. As a result, we believe it exceptionally complete. While probably having but ephemeral interest, many notes on tax changes, proposed taxes, discontinuance of stamps, etc. have crept in. We hope these inclusions will not tempt the user to rely too heavily on these reports in his research. Our reports are admittedly very incomplete and the serious researcher is better advised to obtain such information from the statutes and regulations of the various states.

We have elected to divide the index into four divisions which should be self-explanatory:

- I. STATE AND LOCAL REVENUES
- II. U. S. & POSSESSIONS, FOREIGN, MISCELLANEOUS STAMPS
- III. GENERAL INFORMATION
- IV. AUTHOR INDEX

Entries are alphabetical except for local issues which are listed alphabetically at the end of each State listing. We have not been entirely consistent in reporting different taxes; persons using the index should keep this in mind and scan the listing for related taxes. This is especially true for taxes on alcoholic beverages, tobacco products, and fishing and hunting stamps.

Notation is by Whole Number and page; 71:95 refers to page 95 in Whole Number 71. Some issues did not have numbered pages; we have supplied page numbers for the individual issues in those cases. Two different issues bear Whole Number 61; these are designated as 61(1) and 61(2). Whole Number 64 was never published. In many issues the catalog pages included at the end of an issue are unnumbered; these are designated with an "A" suffix (e.g., 36A). This suffix is also included even when the pages are numbered, thus 67A:29.

We would be pleased to have any errors or omissions called to our attention; it is unlikely that none have occurred in an undertaking of this magnitude. Elsewhere in this issue we give a list of back issues still available and prices. Any person desiring to know if a certain indexed reference is important in his research is invited to correspond with the Newsletter editor. Copies of more important information is best obtained by purchase of back issues; however where a back issue is no longer available, photocopies can be provided at cost through the editorial office.

If we have accomplished nothing more, we will consider our efforts a success if they point out areas in which the Newsletter has been deficient and will stimulate the user to fill those gaps.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR REQUESTING INFORMATION ON STAMPS FROM STATE OFFICES

When writing for information to any addresses shown on the following pages, we recommend that you include a self-addressed stamped envelope for the reply. This is especially important when writing to individuals such as license agents, judges, etc for fish and game stamps. These persons are under no obligation to give you a reply in any event; it pays to give them every possible incentive to do so. As a member of SRS, you are obligated to help maintain good relations with those few states which still cooperate with collectors. Be reasonable in your demands. Also consider that most state officials are not stamp collectors and fail to understand why anyone else would be. One sometimes get strange replies! Most will make a serious effort to cooperate with collectors - if State laws permit. But most also abide by the state laws!

ADDRESSES FOR STATE AGENCIES WHICH ISSUE REVENUE STAMPS
Compiled by Kenneth Pruess

I have elected to divide this list into three parts: I. excise and documentary, II. agricultural inspection, and III. fish and game. In most cases separate agencies handle these different types of stamps. This list was compiled from various sources, many of which are several years old. While some addresses may be incomplete, or even incorrect, I think the agencies listed should at least be able to refer you to the correct taxing authority. I have not been able to include all stamps, e.g. bedding, which are handled by still other agencies for which I do not have addresses. I hope members using this list will inform me of correct addresses, stamps currently in use, and their availability to collectors so we can include information in future Newsletters.
